

Virginia Department of Correctional Education

Fall 2003

GOVERNOR HONORS CORRECTIONAL EDUCATION VOLUNTEER

DCE volunteer John Washington has won the prestigious Governor's Community Service and Volunteerism Award. Mr. Washington volunteers at the Chesterfield Women's Diversion Center as a motivational speaker for female drug offenders working directly with students. Despite his busy schedule, Mr. Washington, owner of Fine Foods Inc. and a pastor at the Bible Church of Christ, manages to visit the facility at least once a month for three to four hours. In a year, his message reaches approximately 100 students. Interestingly, Mr. Washington himself was a client at the diversion center and a DCE student.

"Mr. Washington exemplifies the spirit of the Department of Correctional Education. His success demonstrates the potential of our students and the overreaching importance of education in transforming lives," said Superintendent Walter A. McFarlane.

Governor Mark Warner gives Volunteer John Washington his award for outstanding volunteer service at Chesterfield Diversion Center.

CVC Poster 2003:

This year's Combined Virginia Campaign poster was drawn by a student at the Paul S. Blandford High School. The student also devised the campaign theme: Lend A Helping Hand.

"Please embrace this year's CVC Campaign with the same enthusiasm and compassion evident in the heart of the DCE student who created this year's theme," said DCE's CVC Campaign Chairman Sandra Moss. "I hope the DCE poster will encourage more agency employees to participate this year. We can show our pride in this young man's efforts by contributing to the campaign." DCE's goal this year is to raise $20,000.

DCE's CVC Chairman Seeks Your Aid

Dear Fellow DCE Employee,

As we kick-off the Commonwealth of Virginia Campaign here at DCE, I would be pleased if you would join me in applauding the DCE student at Paul S. Blandford High School who came up with the winning 2003 Campaign Theme "Lend a Helping Hand".

He also created the artwork which is being used statewide to promote the CVC and its efforts to raise funds for the 1,042 charities that are approved to participate in this year's campaign. I hope this young man will inspire every one of us to give from our hearts to the less fortunate as compassionately as the hands on the poster are reaching out to one another to help make a difference in the lives of so many needy people.

The campaign will run from October 1 to November 30, 2003. The 2002 Commonwealth of Virginia Campaign raised $3,075,081.00 More than 19,295 state employees contributed to the campaign. The average gift was $146.39. The success of this campaign is now in your hands.

There are many ways you can contribute to include employees giving of their time, or money through payroll deductions, credit card contributions, donations by cash, check or money order, or gift of stock all of which are tax deductible to the extent allowed by law.

As a society we have an obligation to each other. Take your eyes off yourself and put it on others. Volunteer to help or contribute your money to facilitate those who volunteer their time to help others.

Please donate your time or money to a worthy cause. Be someone's hero. You can make a difference. Please, "lend a helping hand".

Sandra Moss

DCE's Favorite Charities

DCE's CVC contributions are as varied as the 1,000-some employees that work for the agency in either full or part-time capacities.

Last year, 177 donors made 270 pledges for a total gift of $17,774. DCE's average gift, $100.42, was below the state average $159.37, but its participation rate, 27 percent, was well above the state average, 19 percent.

"We think we can really improve that participation rate this year," said CVC Chairman Sandra Moss. "Many more DCE people are noticing the campaign this year, just because one of our students drew the campaign poster and devised the theme."

The favorite charity in terms of number of contributors last year was the United Negro College Fund, to which, twelve people contributed. The next in terms of total different contributors was the Children's Hospital of Richmond, which accepted eight donations. The largest total DCE pledge in dollars, $1,651, was made to no specific entity. Children's Hospital of King's Daughter received $1,046. Visit the website at: www.cvc.vipnet.org

Scholarship Honors DCE Employee

The Center for Therapeutic Justice in Williamsburg has created a scholarship in memory of former DCE employee, Kim Hull. According to its website, the Center uses the social model approach to improve the criminal justice system and build collaborative efforts among leaders in the correctional community.

Each year the Center holds an annual summit for criminal justice professionals. "The scholarship was created for ex-offenders to be able to attend from different parts of the country," explained Morgan Moss, co-director of the Center.

According to the CTJ website, the scholarship, is given "in memory of an extraordinary man who gave so unselfishly of himself to the wounded and confused men and women whose lives seemed hopelessly entangled and marginalized as they struggled to prepare to re-enter society after being released from prison. Kim's respect of the possibility of success for people who had given up on themselves offered incarcerated men and women the chance to achieve dignity and self worth through the Department of Correctional Education programs which he supervised throughout the Commonwealth of Virginia."

Visit the CTJ website at: www.therapeuticjustice.com

Woodworks Etc. More than wood. Roger Gooding has taken his Floor Covering Class at Coffeewood to a new level. His imaginative use of carving and binding carpets has resulted in a variety of colorful and interesting carpets that he plans to sell at the annual display of vocational class products which opens Monday, November 3 at noon in the James Monroe Building.

The show runs through Friday, November 7 and will feature varied items such as bird baths, stuffed pillows, weather vanes, children's toys, plants, crab pots sheet and, last but not least, woodworks!

Staff Development Week: Early Registration Deadline

DCE's next Staff Development Week will be held December 1st to 5th. Planning has begun for this event with new topics and presenters. Activities will include something for everyone, from teachers to support staff. Be prepared to register early. Registrations are processed on a first come, first served basis.

Staff Development Week starts the Monday after our two day Thanksgiving break. This will cause registration to cut off earlier than normal.

August Staff Development concluded with 284 individuals attending at least one session. This represents 45 percent of DCE. Also during the week, VACE held its conference in Williamsburg.

Convocation Scenes 2003

Keynote Dr. James Narduzzi, center, of the University of Richmond's School of Continuing Studies served as the keynote speaker for DCE's annual convocation. In his address, he reminded his audience that learning is a lifelong process. Pictured left is James Davis, Deputy Superintendent and Assistant to the Superintendent, and right, Walter A. McFarlane, Superintendent.

Don't Fight the Funk. An appreciative audience enjoyed the musical stylings of Culpeper's Cedar Mountain Band.

All Together Now. This quartet made some beautiful music.

Star Power. These convocation participants aimed high.

Five on One. Teamwork ruled as these five gentlemen took on a single convocation activity. Attendees described this year's event in various ways, but especially unique, effective and enjoyable.

UMW of Reveille Church Book Drive Benefits Southampton Correctional Center

The United Methodist Women of Reveille Church in Richmond have donated more than 100 books to the library at Southampton Correctional Center.

The Richmond church, working under the auspices of its Outreach Ministry, has collected nearly $2,000 in books, almost all current titles suggested by Southampton Librarian Teresa Weaver.

Her list includes a rather wide range of titles including fiction, self-help and African history. "Everybody at the church as been wonderful," said Donna Kessel, the Reveille Women's social action coordinator.

"I have not had anybody say, 'No.' The more I talk to people, the more enthusiastic they become. I don't think a lot of people realized this type of opportunity existed. They have just embraced this project."

"I have just been overwhelmed by their generosity," said Ms. Weaver. "When I sent them my wish list in the summer, I had no idea they would come through in this manner. I am certainly impressed by their enthusiasm and passion for this project. When a large church takes on a project like this, it can really make a difference."

Ms. Kessel plans to deliver the books to the prison shortly before Thanksgiving.

The group is now examining other ways to contribute to prison libraries and transition services.

DCE's Volunteer Program Shines in FY 2003

For the year, DCE volunteer programs brought an estimated total value of $414,115.78 to the agency as an estimated 591 volunteers performed about 6,618.92 hours of service valued at $130,856.04.

Additionally, DCE received an estimated $283,259.74 in donations. Fluvanna Correctional Center for Women had the most total volunteers with 108. Lunenburg Correctional Center logged the most volunteer hours of any school with 1,757.

Donations to Coffeewood Correctional Center for the year, $112,169.93, made it the agency leader in donations.

Coffeewood was also the leader in total program value with $112,189.70.

"We are very pleased," said Volunteer Manager Jenee Tucker. "DCE has always had a strong volunteer program, and it continues to enhance the agency in new and better ways. This next year is going to be very exciting."

DCE volunteer John Washington, won the 2003 Governor's Community Service and Volunteerism Award for his work at Chesterfield Diversion Center. He was one of two people honored for their individual efforts. See related story on Page 1.

DCE's Distance Learning Efforts Presented to the American Correctional Association

Susan M. Clair, Director of Instructional Technology, recently presented at the American Correctional Education conference in Nashville. Ms. Clair gave a presentation on "The Technology McFarlane. Mr. McFarlane noted: "I attended the Annual ACA Conference where I was fortunate to be the moderator on a panel concerning education. Susan Clair represented DCE and put on of Teaching: New Techniques in Correctional Education." The ACA presentation was moderated by DCE superintendent, Walter A.

an outstanding presentation for which we should all be proud." Ms. Clair's presentation highlighted the success of DCE students taking advanced placement courses offered through the Virginia Satellite Education Network at Paul S. Blandford High School, Beaumont Juvenile Correctional Center. Ms. Clair discussed Blandford's success in terms of the improvement in student academic success, improvement in student behavior and self-esteem, preparation for the future, and the role of excellent teaching and mentoring of students taking these challenging courses. Advanced placement courses and foreign language courses have also been offered at Joseph T. Mastin High School, Bon Air Juvenile Correctional Center and has met with similar success. The VSEN course offerings have now been extended to the J.H. Smyth High School at Hanover Juvenile Correctional Center for the first time this year.

In accordance with NCLB 2001, Dr. Fannie Page has scheduled credit baring courses for DCE Instructional Assistants. These courses will cover a variety of topics and concepts through which IAs will meet the requirements to attain "highly qualified paraprofessional" status. The classes for Introduction to Special Education, began on the evening of September 15 and will continue through November 26, 2003. Linked to other efforts to improve student achievement is the continued work with varied outside consultants. Part of DCE's overall School Reform programs, our Middle and High Schools have benefited from such notables as Dr. Daisy Reed and Dr. Ellen Woodruff, who taught a course entitled VCU through "Instructional Strategies for the Classroom Teacher." Skip Ledbetter, expert in the Marzano Model, also serves as a consultant for several of our schools. Additional in-service training for writing strategies is presently in the planning stage.

Curriculum

A team of various DCE teachers and administrators has begun writing DCE's Health and Physical Education curriculum. This group is currently reviewing textbooks and supplemental materials for adoption in accordance with Department of Education requirements.

Blandford Adult Continuing Education (BACE) Program

Funded by the Federal Grant for the Class Size Reduction Program, Blandford's BACE program begins this year with renewed spirit. Geared for students who wish to complete their GEDs, this program allows the BACE students to concentrate on what concepts must be mastered in order to ensure GED success.

It also allows rescheduling of students out of SOL content area classes, and thus allows teachers to zero-in on students' general and individual needs.

Ms. Atkins and Ms. Cunningham are teaching the skills DCE students need for academic success.

Instructional Emphasis

Implementation of successful instructional strategies is this year's major focus for the Director of Curriculum & Instruction, Dr. Colleen McCabe.

She plans to visit school sites more frequently in order to share successful instructional strategies through workshops and individual classroom visits. Teachers who attend staff development activities, or take credit baring courses that are funded by DCE, develop implementation plans for their classrooms. Through her classroom observations, Dr. McCabe is able to offer suggestions to teachers, and share their exemplar lessons with other sites' instructors.

VSBA Governor's Conference

In July, Virginia School Board Association conference participants learned from Dr. Patricia Blair, Director of Academic Programs, why DCE has one of the best GED programs in Virginia: Inquiry-based learning.

This approach involves becoming familiar with all aspects of the problem; planning, assigning, and performing tasks related to finding the answer or solution. Learning under this approach, DCE students have achieved a 75 percent pass rate. Board Clerk Patricia Ennis, seated, assists an attendee at the DCE display.

C&TE programs are sponsoring an effort to increase mentoring for youth students utilizing Perkins' funds to cover the cost of recruiting and training the mentors. This is a collaborative effort involving the Virginia Mentoring Partnership, DJJ, and several DCE staff. We have met with the administrators at Mastin High School to begin the planning, and hope to have an open house in early December.

Research Efforts:

Virginia Tech is beginning the first large-scale analysis of adult inmates release over a multiple-year period. This effort will track

Camp Cobra Successful

John H. Smyth High School students at Hanover Juvenile Correctional Center learn map reading from Colonel Timothy Gilbert, left. The activities this summer were part of the Smyth School's annual JROTC Camp Cobra. The three-day camp is designed to give participants military training that emphasizes citizenship and leadership. Inspectors gave Smyth High School's JROTC a 99.9 percent passing rate.

about 25,000 adult inmates using tax records, Department of Motor Vehicle records, and State Council for Higher Education in Virginia records to compare and contrast the success of students and non-students. The target date to have preliminary results is June 2004.

Grants:

DJJ has received a substantial grant from the Department of Labor to provide additional programs and transition services for juveniles who are incarcerated, but not enrolled in school (already have a GED, high school diploma, or above the compulsory attendance age). This grant will provide a new barbering program and two instructors, provide for a second (evening shift printing instructor, and also include an electricity teacher). These new programs will be offered to students on both sides of the campus. Funds will also provide additional security and workforce coordinator positions to assist in finding employment for students leaving the facility.

DCE will receive $404,015 for the Workplace and Community Transition Training for Incarcerated Youth Offenders Grant. These funds provide for books, instructional materials, and tuition for incarcerated young adults who qualify. This is the third year of this grant, which helps to fill the void left when Pell grants were made ineligible for inmates.
